Chemical Engineering Magazines Plant Cost Indices Once the scaled, installed equipment costs were determined, overhead and contingency factors were applied to determine a total plant investment cost. That cost, along with the plant operating expenses (generally developed from the Aspen Plus models mass and energy balance results), was used in a discounted cash flow analysis to determine the cost of ethanol production (referred to as the Minimum Ethanol Selling Price, or MESP) using a specific discount rate. For the analysis done here, the MESP is the primary value used to compare alternate designs. 8 This item ships from La Vergne,TN. Paperback.
